Subject: : Gear Talk
Topic: : Rod/Reel Show-And-Tell Thread
Re: Rod/Reel Show-And-Tell Thread
Author: : ConMan
Date: : 2010/4/14 13:39:17
URL:

Man, I can't hang with you guys. Don't you have mortgages to pay!?

RODS:
St. Croix Premier - 8 ft. 4 wt - 2 piece. I don't fish this rod any more - but it's for my nephew when he starts taking care of his fishing equipment.
St. Croix Avid - 8 ft. 4 wt. - 2 piece. Love this rod. Use it on small streams to fish small dry flies and nymphs.
St. Croix Imperial - 9 ft. 5 wt. - 2 piece. No longer fish with it. Too soft.
St. Croix Avid - 9 1/2 ft. 7 wt. - Steelhead Rod.

Sage Launch - 9 ft. 4 wt 4 piece. Use for dry flies and nymphs and small streamers. Good value rod that has solid performance.
Sage Launch - 9 ft. 5 wt. 4 piece. Use it on larger streams and with larger streamers and nymphs or when the wind is up and I need to punch through it on smaller streams.

Loop Opti Creek - 8ft. 8 in 3 wt. 4 piece. Brand new. Haven't fished it yet but cast it and fell in love with it. I was looking for a 3 wt. for small nymphs and dries for Wisconsin Spring Creeks.

Reels:
Old Courtland Fly Reel - no idea of the lineage. Have had it for 15 years. Don't fish it any longer except on a rare occassion when I feel nostaligic.
Orvis Battenkill Bar Stock II - Use on 4 and 5 wts.
Lamson Velocity Hard Alox 3.5 - Steelhead Reel
Loop Opti Creek - New - bought it to fish on the 3wt. and a spare spool for the 4 wt.

Now for this list of rods and reels I want.... that's just too darn long 😃