Got the idea for this thread from wildtrout's recent wild/native preference thread. One of the unfortunate side effects of the whole SBing debate has been a pretty noticeable decrease in picture posting IMO. That's always been one of my favorite parts of the site...just looking at pictures of fish...I don't care what stream they came from, I just like looking at them. And most of the time to be honest, I don't want to know where they came from...I'd rather find them on my own.

Anyway, a few ground rules for the thread to try to keep things in order:

1. Only wild fish caught in PA.
2. No arguing over whether a fish is wild or not...if the poster says it is...good enough.
3. Only one fish per species...part of the fun is having to pick just one. So it's possible to post as many as 4 pics (Brook, Brown, Bow, Tiger)
4. Try to include a short caption about why that pic is your favorite for that species.
5. It's up to the poster to disclose location if they choose...totally cool if you don't...no SBing discussions, period.
6. If you don't wanna participate in a constructive manner, don't post!

Let's share some good pictures and good stories gang...that's why we all originally signed up for the site right? I'll get my thoughts and pictures together and post them in a little while.
