Subject: : Swap Forum
Topic: : Scott A3 9ft 9wt
Re: Scott A3 9ft 9wt
Author: : gfen
Date: : 2011/9/14 15:22:48
URL:

Quote:

> Shebop wrote:
> You didn't argue about the warranty. Kindly re-read. I said you pointed out that A3s were being blown out at prices below what he was asking. In fact, I believe you mentioned the very rod you're trying to trade here.
>
> The post in question was removed, likely because the aforementioned chiseler whined to the management.

Shebop, IIRC, is defender of the Scott Warranty Policy in all threads thus far. I don't remember the exchange on pricing, but it sounds like a Beckerism, although I'm pretty sure which mope he means, and that said that guy tends to be a bigger hangup on low cost fishing tomfoolery, whereas Becker is too unable to understand "savings" to worry 'bout it.

That said, the post in question, like the last time one of these was blown out, was removed. Its been noted in offline Cabal meetings, and it presumably because chiselers in question don't like being pointed out that there's a level of dishonesty that could pervade their dealings.

Frankly, I suspect this thread'll join those last two off in the ether. As much as its fun to ride Becker mercilessly, its sad that it reaches this point when the truth is, outside of some ignorance of the warranty process, he's not really doing anything wrong.

Oh, hell. Did I support him?! I'd like to point out before I'm accused of being in any form of "posse" with him that I was also the guy who provided 9 links full of A3 rods under $200, stirring up another page or two of debate on this.