

Subject: : Tips and Tricks

Topic: : Indicator

Re: Indicator

Author: : Wulff-Man

Date: : 2007/5/2 8:45:48

URL:

Live2fish, now that you mention it, I think I should have said to put it 1 to 1.5 times the depth of the water. I think that's more like what I do and have seen as a rule of thumb. You're right that when you get closer to twice the depth you may get hung up a lot, depending on the speed of the current. It could also make it more likely to miss takes.