

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : Steelhead flies

Re: Steelhead flies

Author: : Millertime

Date: : 2009/8/20 12:33:56

URL:

Very nice guys thanks for the input.

I think I will probably keep tying the traditional princes for now
I just need to buckle down and make them.

I have a bunch of tail and wing biots and I am finally after several months getting better at attaching them properly.

That is also what I have been tying my eggs on. (sz10 scud)

I havent had much success on a single egg personally.

I would assume if stream conditions change. Much like normal trout fishing step up a size so the fish would see it a bit better.

I look forward to this year and trying some new things I havent before.