For campgrounds...Folly's end is right on Elk creek with a fly shop, convenience store, and a pavillion. Might make for a good meeting point...but no cabins...tent/ campers only.

KOA is right across from Elk and has cabins. A little better kept...more family oriented...but a little more expensive than Folly's.

Plenty of little dive motels all over west erie.

We've used the Microtel several times. About $70 per night. Clean, central to east and west streams, close to all food options, and on I90 (about a mile from 79) so it's easy to find.
