

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : tiers funk

tiers funk

Author: : ryanh

Date: : 2006/10/30 14:46:59

URL:

you ever fall into one of those modes where you just tie half A$$ed? how to get out of it? Last couple of weeks I can't really get into knocking out the flies. Maybe I need some trip pending to motivate me. I got a bunch of these, and a bunch of those, and frankly am getting bored of tying PT's and hairs ears. That by no means suggests that my flies are perfect, on the contrary, their quality is probably suffering from my lack of zeal towards the tieng bench. OMG...it is starting to feel like work.

is this common? Maybe just the newness has finally worn off (after 10 years). Maybe I should immerse my self in some other aspect of the sport and give tying a break.