You just had to post the pics of the "monster fish", LOL. I too had a good time, a nice change of pace. I did try to fish the surf one morning but with all of the tropical storms the surf was a bit rough. The biggest problem I had was trying to strip the fly fast enough, with the current being rough my fly was being washed in too fast. The pic with the 4 guys in the background were the only ones out that day.

I definately will try out Oregon Inlet again next year!
