

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : Steelhead swap

Steelhead swap

Author: : David

Date: : 2009/9/2 15:52:45

URL:

We'll pull this out into it's own topic...

Who is up for a quick salmon / steelhead swap to get ready for the upcoming season. Be forewarned, we'll probably want a quicker turnaround time than most since the season is quickly approaching.

While we can take a few egg patterns, we don't want it to be an egg swap... I would think we need a Prince and a ZugBug to help settle that debate. Other possibilities would be PTs, black or gold stones, buggers, egg sucking leeches, comets, small decievers, etc. I don't need to list all the non-egg possibilities.

I'll host the swap if there is enough interest.

Let's give 1 week for sign ups - so a sept 9th deadline.

Would 2 or 3 weeks be enough for you tiers?...that would allow us to get them out by the first or 2nd week of October. I believe a number of people will be heading up to NY around then.

If interested, let us know what you'll be tying.

I can hear the reels screamin' now!!!