

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : Wood Duck Chapter of TU

Re: Wood Duck Chapter of TU

Author: : salvelinusfontinalis

Date: : 2007/5/10 13:31:19

URL:

yes and troutbert that is a good thing. it always blows my mind that TU is supposed to be about wild trout. yet have hatcheries to stock marginal streams. or streams the have small populations of wild trout. now in the case of lititz run.....its the same with a twist.

they closed off the section from riparian park downstream to the conservancy. they stocked this area with fingerling brown trout and are studying to see how many survive through the years. that i see is a good resource of hatchery stock on a stream. but other than those small instances....i dont get it.

sorry to answer your question: YES!

please join....if you care about the streams in your area...by all means join. it could be you that gets it going again and makes the difference for our enviroment. 