Dude, I don't think anyone is advocating removal of C&R regulation on all streams. I don't think anyone is advocating removing those regs from the Little J, either. I think a couple of you have read into this too far.

I don't agree: "What really bothers me are the catch and release regulations..... I think blanket catch and release regulations are wrong."

Now I'm confused. Maybe it was in my wording, because you and I seem to rarely disagree on this type of subject.

I think "blanket" C&R regs are wrong too, but i don't have a problem with them on select stream sections that have the potential for large trout and also have excessive fishing pressure.
