

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Slate and Cedar

Re: Slate and Cedar

Author: : Chaz

Date: : 2006/11/1 13:05:36

URL:

I was up a week and a half ago and everything was high. It looks like everything is still high, at least Pine Creek is at 1590, which is borderline fishable according to some, though I wouldn't do it. As for the tributaries, if it doesn't rain again before the weekend they should be lookin good, but the browns will be spawning and that may affect the number of fish you catch. The brookies are done tough so that should give you plenty of fish available. Use big flies.