Here is the deal on this dam removal -

The dam in question is within the TT Special Reg Section. In addition to the dam removal, bank stabilization and in-stream habitat work is being done above the dam. Trout have been holding in the run where the dam was removed and they have taken to the habitat structures upstream. This should be no surprise since this section of Saucon Creek is loaded with fish.

troutbert - on what good trout stream in PA have trout populations been significantly reduced or eliminated as a result of a dam being removed?
