

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : Saucon Creek dam removal

Re: Saucon Creek dam removal

Author: : AlwaysWading

Date: : 2009/10/18 10:15:23

URL:

I've been there since the dam removal and it's hard to say there is a difference in fish numbers. It will take a number of months or years for the actual results to show up, since the stream itself needs that time to adjust to the change.

The removal should be a positive thing but only time will tell.

What would make an immediate positive impact is for the current restricted stretch to be changed over to fly fishing only C&R. Too many breeders are being removed, let mother nature handle everything, let fly fisher-persons enjoy our time on the stream, and put fish back for the next person to enjoy.