I dont see why a squirrel on a turtle hook wouldnt work... 😊

The pittsburgh area has rumors of giant cats under the locks. My buddie's dad owns a bar right below one of the locks and some divers were called in to do some service on them and apparently there's 5 to 6 foot catfish down there as well as some giant muskie.

I dont know how much my friend exaggerated on this story (he has a tendency to do so) but i have no doubt that there are some big fish down there.
