i'm fairly new to fl fishing and i was wondering how far up should i put the indicator and my other question is how can i easily reduce the drag

I only skimmed the article but it seemed pretty good. I would add that you need to learn how to mend line. This is easy to learn and get used to. Its a subtle flipping of the line up stream to make a "U" shape that points upstream instead of down. pretend my abbreviation is fly line with a right to left current.
