

---

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Any need to replace leader?

Re: Any need to replace leader?

Author: : JackM

Date: : 2007/5/22 13:02:53

URL:

Run your fingers along it. If it feels intact, there is no need to replace it for that reason. However, because each time a fly is changed an inch or more of the tippet is lost, the leader at the end may need to be periodically re-built. Some people will just replace it at that point since they are usually only a few dollars.