

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Leaders?

Re: Leaders?

Author: : jayL

Date: : 2009/10/29 15:30:16

URL:

Quote:

troutslammer wrote:

jayl did u ever try it ? the heavier middle sections pulls the lighter hinge section down quicker , causes no more drag than a tapered leader

I don't use tapered leaders for any subsurface application.

I have experimented with different diameter lines, and found that larger diameters prevent sinking.

My guess is that the increased drag may have pulled your fly down faster, but... well... it's at the expense of increased drag.