

---

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Leaders?

Re: Leaders?

Author: : sundrunk

Date: : 2009/11/8 11:25:16

URL:

Quote:

osprey wrote:

I coil them the same way sundrunk does use four fingers and tuck the loop end around three time they will uncoil just fine as for storage i have an old leader wallet , even has a side for soaking cat gut but i keep it just cause it was my dads , as for storage try manilla coin envelopes , the small ones , you can write on them too and they fit in the pockets of a leader wallet , I use maxima for the whole deal and formulas given to me by Bob Clouser and some i got from reading George Harvey , if you'd like to see some let me know and i'll dig them out and post them. I know Bob wouldn't care that's just the kind of guy he is.

I really like how Bob Clouser loops his butt sections with the mid/tippet. It's nice to just have to tie mid and tippet sections. Clouser leaders are classic big fly tappers...