I have two pair of fairly inexpensive breathables. One pair (chest) for the few times I fish really deep water. The other pair are waist high and cover most of my trout fishing needs. Both stockingfoot, they partner with a pair of LLBeans boots that are light with Aqua-steath, studded bottoms. I would suggest strongly that you try on a pair of waders before buying them. I sent back at least two mail-order pairs before I wised up. One Hodgeman, and one Cabelas; the inseam legth was about two inches off on both pairs!
