

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : WF or DT

Re: WF or DT

Author: : gfen

Date: : 2009/11/24 15:33:01

URL:

Quote:

tomgamber wrote:

I don't understand why you keep saying to cut a line in half. No backing is better than half a line. Not many see their backing but I get more than half way up my line on a regular basis. If you cut your line in half you cannot cast more than 36 feet.

If you're pressed for room, and already don't have much backing on the reel, then you're gonna have to find plenty of room.

So, pre-split your DT line, put half on the reel and the other half on the spool for a couple years.