Marv,

I was pretty much just like you, I spin fished for many years and up until 2 years ago I never fly fished. Words cannot explain the difference between fly fishing and spin fishing, trust me you will see. I started out with a 7'6" rod and really love that rod. My second year I bought an 8'6" rod and not so impressed however, they are two different rods. I would though have to agree with troutbert and say get an 8'6" rod. DO NOT GET DISCOURAGED!! Leave the spinning rod at home when you plan on fishing, I have had the tendency to go and get my spin rod. I look at it this way I'm not going to learn fly fishing by casting a few times not catching anything and going back to spinning where I know I will catch something. Just my $.02!
