

Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : Calling salt "fin"attics

Re: Calling salt "fin"attics

Author: : Fishidiot

Date: : 2009/11/26 22:50:58

URL:

Saltwater fish often bleed more when caught due to their greater muscle and supporting vascular physiology around their jaws. This is particularly true for oily pelagics like bluefish, tunas, kings, and 'hoos. Of course, some of the fish in the photos are clearly the handiwork of the Man in the Brown Suit.