

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Newby To Fly Fishing Start Out Gear???

Re: Newby To Fly Fishing Start Out Gear???

Author: : jayL

Date: : 2007/6/5 14:29:55

URL:

You're buying them so I'd hate to suggest simple flies... It's a real shame to pay $1.50 or more for a green weenie, but it's gotta be done.

The green weenie

<http://www.flytyingworld.com/PagesF/fb-greenweenie.htm>

Pheasant tail (pt) nymph, with bead and without

<http://www.westfly.com/patterns/wet/pheasanttail.shtml>

hare's ear nymph, with bead and without

<http://www.flyfishersparadise.com/articles/old/olm8.htm>

some kind of ant and beetle. No need for a picture here, the best patterns look like ants or beetles.

wooly bugger

<http://www.westfly.com/patterns/wet/woollybugger.shtml>

adams

<http://www.visi.com/~mpv/FlyFishing/Adams/AdamsFOTM.html>

Get a lot of color variations in dry flies like the adams, a cream colored one is called a light cahill, a black one with white wings is a black gnat. I'd recommend picking up a few dry flies like this in light and dark colors, but the adams gray is an all around color.

Also ask your fly shop for some other ideas for what's hatching in your area.