

---

Subject: : Stream Reports

Topic: : Elk Creek, Erie County PA 12/5/2009

Re: Elk Creek, Erie County PA 12/5/2009

Author: : pcray1231

Date: : 2009/12/6 20:42:56

URL:

Yes, I hunted Mon-Wed. Hit a buck Monday morning, but was not able to recover it. Heavy rain made following the blood trail very difficult, and I lost it. Spent much of the day blindly looking for the deer without luck, probably didn't hit it well. It always sucks to wound an animal. Tuesday and Wed. were pretty uneventful in the woods.

As for fishing.

Thurs. -- Most everything blown out. I ended up on 12 mile, which was fishable. Very windy, you just lifted the rod, flew the line like a kite, then tried to work it down to the water. Did pretty well, considering the situation. 5 landed. There were maybe 10-15 guys there at any given time.

Fri -- Elk in perfect condition, but this just wasn't my day for some reason. Hooked 2, landed 0. Fished 4 different locations and only saw a total of 4 other fishermen, most of them had caught a couple but noone cleaned up.

Sat. -- Streams MUCH more crowded. Started on Elk at daylight at the Legion, I caught 1 and JayL caught, I think, 3. We then moved up to Steretania to join the other guys, and did pretty well up there. Yes, my final tally was 7 fair hooked fish landed on the day, including the one at the legion.

It was great to meet everyone that I haven't met before, and for JayL's group, it was good to see you again. Lookin forward to the jam.