small nymphs work really well in gin clear water with a royal wulf as a indie , 6lb seagar , yellow eggs with blood dots crushed them in the morning , on 2x tippet , then sun cam out and went to 4x , fish were hugging the banks big time , they are getting smart , i don't know how many people i see walk by a clear run and they don't see fish and they walk by it , they aren't looking 4" from the bank though especially when the bank is under cut a little , even if the water is only 6" deep they are usually there. i usually wait for people to drive them like deer into the run i fishing from upstream or down its funny !!!!
