

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : BlueSky Furled Leaders

Re: BlueSky Furled Leaders

Author: : AugustWest

Date: : 2007/6/8 11:45:24

URL:

Never had that happen. A nail knot works very well also. I have a little purist in me that makes me want to use the loop as it was intended. However, I have tied a nail knot for the extender on one where I did have a problem (loop frayed due to use) and it worked like a charm. I suggest that you use an thicker extender than you expect to use for a tippet. For example 3X or 4X if your tippet will be 6X. I used 0X on my 6wt spool.

I think you'll really like the leader. I never looked back. Nymphing too.