

Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : Chain Pickerel on the fly

Re: Chain Pickerel on the fly

Author: : trowpa

Date: : 2009/12/14 23:11:02

URL:

Yes - they are all over the place in the poconos. I've never tried catching one on a fly rod, but grew up catching them on spinners...and now so have my children :)

I would think any flashy streamer stripped quickly would get them. They are pretty aggressive and will hit almost anything that looks like a minnow. Just be careful with size streamer/tippet as you don't want those teeth causing too many lost flies and fish.