

---

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : WINDMILLS II

Re: WINDMILLS II

Author: : riz

Date: : 2009/12/23 13:53:11

URL:

i would love to see better solutions to our problem of energy. but the solutions has to make economic sense. utilities will not invest in something that will loose them money. so currently that leaves out wind, solar and geo. the only other solutions are gas and nuke. but you don't hear the president touting either of them. even starting right now it will take 6 yrs to bring new plants on line and the long they dither the more behind we get. we can not wait for new technology to become marketable, we need to use what we have and as the technology advances, it gets intergrated in. as it sand right now all of our capabilities are being used. so without new plants we can not expanse our energy usage. no new factories, heavy industry, refineries etc. can be built which would help with jobs. we don't have the energy to power these sectors.