i have both a nuke plant and a coal fired plant 6 miles from my house both are operated by first energy, there have been problems with particle fall out from the coal plant, leaving a black dust on the houses and cars, i worked temporarily at the nuke plant and talking to some of the engineers they mentioned about in the possibility of nuke plants on a smaller scale ,ones that would`nt require large amounts of water to operate

I read the first line and into my mind popped "Beaver County"!
