Interesting.....i thought the pics TomG posted were a great example of the issue , anyone into photography , there is a great shot from the Jerome area looking east , strip mine in the foreground windmills in the back , my daughter took some pics , it's a nice shot. One more thing , the folks who seem to be most vocal to me in this area , Central City/Shade/Cairnbrook , protesting the windmills while thousands , and i mean thousands of coal truck roll every day down rt160 , the dang protest signs are covered with coal dust , so is the snow , I DON'T GET IT.....UNLESS maybe the coal companies are behind the big outcry.
