

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : WINDMILLS II

Re: WINDMILLS II

Author: : bikerfish

Date: : 2009/12/24 7:59:54

URL:

osprey, I think it's usually folks that either work for the coal companies, or have friends and family that work for them, mining, driving coal trucks, whatever. simple economics and a bit of local pride. they fear those damn "greenies" are going to put them out of work. I don't think they understand that THE COAL WILL RUN OUT BEFORE THE WIND!! it won't happen in any of our lifetimes, but it will happen.

just think, in a million years, whatever lives on this planet will be able to dig us up and use US for fuel!!

BIG debates go on in WV over this topic, between mountain top removal or putting up windmills.

I think as technology moves forward, we will become more energy efficient and alternative forms of energy will be better developed and will be able to meet our needs.