Good stuff .

I own a switchrod 6/7 beulah I used for salt a couple of times this year and loved it. Used it on the lower susky once and did really well on the channel cats.

How's that work out for you? I want one, but I can't really come up with a compelling reason to buy other than I don't have it.

You think a 6/7 is too light to do both salt and river bass, or are you happy with what you picked?
