Jayl,

I'm not saying you shouldnt have backing. PA fish rarely go into your backing unless they are brutes. Ive hooked decent sized trout with them not going into my backing. I kinda have these things called legs that I can walk with and follow the fish. With todays drag systems fish dont have a chance.

My biggest trout ever cam from a hole in Pine that was 8-10 feet deep and several hundred feet long. I caught him on spinning gear, but he made at least 6 runs that were well over 100 yards. I can't help but think how disappointed I would have been if I had a fly rod with no backing that day. Just sayin'.
