Maxima - I learned to fly fish at Kettle Creek in the early '80's.
It is beautiful country, and I have lots of nice memories from the place.
I've also bought lots of gear from Kettle Creek Tackle Shop.
However, the majority of the fish in Kettle Creek are stockies.
I certainly prefer the beautiful wild fish of the limestoners now.
But I usually do get up to Kettle once a year in the springtime - mainly just for old times sake, though.
