troutbert.....if i was you i'd check out the folks at the store in Carter Camp , when i was going up there they had a huge display of old photographs and were very informed when it came to local history , specially logging , there were photos of Carter Camp where everything was bare , no trees , clear cut down to the mud with plank roads.

Thanks Osprey,

I've been in there before but I didn't realize they were into the old history so much. I'll check that out.
