Bam,

Here's a link to a discussion of helgrammite flies from earlier this year and you can see my preferred version.

Frankly, you would likely do as well with a plain ole Woolly Bugger tied with dumbbell eyes. There's a popular fly called a Holshag Hackle Fly which is basically a WB with dumbbell and some rubber legs.

Nevertheless, I like my flies fairly realistic and this version of helgrammite just slays the smallies (even if I say so myself :) ).
