A quick poll for those involved in the swap... I'm deciding what hook to tie on. How many of you fish salt or for pike / musky? I'm going to make a big steeler popper and can tie it on a mustad 2/0 stainless (which makes it a little heavier to cast, but sits lower in the water so it gurgles nicely and is ok in saltwater) or a Teimco wide gap #2 bass bug hook (which is lighter to cast and has a big gap for better hooking, but cannot hold a big musky and would rust quickly in salt). Let me know what your thoughts are...
