

Subject: : Print, Video, Audio Discussions

Topic: : Fly Fisherman

Re: Fly Fisherman

Author: : rrt

Date: : 2010/1/31 9:38:23

URL:

I agree that FFM has sadly deteriorated. I thought the present editor could save it, but he has fallen into the trap of almost strictly destination articles. The Stream Watch section is still good, though.

I think American Angler is worth the money. Fly Rod & Reel is changing; the recent issue was 100 pages, though, sadly, it was a destination issue. Still, there is hope if it continues to be that big. Supposedly, though, it is going to cut back to 5 issues this year and become quarterly, like FTJ is now, next year. Anyhow, AA and FR&R are worth reading, and I pick FTJ up off a newstand 2 or 3 times a year. I have never seen The Drake, nor do I know how to subscribe to it.