I'm still kicking myself for not jumping on that Fall sale with Loon and their chest pack with a hydration bladder for $15!!!

Go try them on somewhere. If it's not comfortable, don't get it. Put some stuff in the pockets, walk around for a while. I have a chest pack and it's ok for what I want it for right now. I'd rather have more storage up front, rather than a large pocket in the back. I'm stuffed full with 3 fly boxes, tippet, indicators and shot. It would be nice to have a bit more room. You'll appreciate it once you accumulate more "stuff". I do like the large back pocket to keep a rain coat in and stuff I don't use regularly but practically I use the stuff in front every time I fish.
