I'm partial to all things William Joseph, so the access pack is what I would recommend.

But there is a new gear company called Allen Fly Fishing that is raising some eyebrows in terms of quality of gear and price. I know people that have screamed some chromers on his reels, and swear by them (and they're $60-100!). I would check them out and email Jeff from the site about a chest pack. I know he's working on getting them to market, but he might be able to get you and a pre-release.

Edit: Allen Fly Fishing just added a backpack/chest pack today that retails for $78. I am now checking that out for myself. Much better price point than fishpond and others.
