

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : Foam Beetle

Re: Foam Beetle

Author: : JackM

Date: : 2007/7/12 9:47:14

URL:

First thing that may help is to lay a thread base below where you tie in the foam, possibly increasing the friction between the foam and hook shank. Also, you might try varying the wrapping of thread, making a few turns around the foam and shank and then a couple behind the foam around the shank an a couple in front, or even crosswise.