I tie one like sandy using turkey tail as the case.

I also tie two versions using the actual case: one the stick version, and the other the wood-pulp version (like the one in the middle of sandfly's two flies).

If I can't find any cases, I simply extract the caddis from the inside of one using a small stream-side twig.

I then coat the cases in spray adhesive.

Doesn't get much easier than just sliding a case over the hook and then adding legs and a dubbing ball.
