Ry- I would be interested to see if you have success with this pattern.

Anyone have success with this?

Would not doubt it- just have never used the pattern. I have had success with green BH larva pattern though- hesitant to change off that pattern but maybe I am missing out on even more hookups.

Kid,

It seems feast or famine for me fishing with cased caddis paterns. Don't "kid" yourself and believe the trout don't feed on them. I've actually caught trout with bumpy, distended stomachs that were filled with caddis cases. There must be some type of behavior drift with some species given the amount of caddis cases consumed. Also, for freshly stocked trout, they look a lot like feed pellets...lol.
