afish- got that book out of the library once- it was so labourous and dry to read one almost must have it on hand to look up ones question the quickly file the book away again before you fall asleep. It did seem to answer the questions though. Thanks.

Have had good success with green BH larva though. I keep my eye on this cased business. My mind is always open to try things.

Kid,

When I first got it I actually sat down and read it, but the most practical way to use it is to study info about one genera or species at a time. It's really a reference book for the most part.
