

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : To count or not to count- that is the question.

Re: To count or not to count- that is the question.

Author: : David

Date: : 2010/2/11 10:58:28

URL:

I'm like you...I always lose count. A year or so ago I decided to try and document my trips by taking one picture of each fish to "verify" my catches. well, I'd end up getting a bad picture of a nice fish so I'd have to take 2 of one fish. Or I'd forget my camera. Or the battery would die... While I still like to take pictures for my own use, I found that my guesstimations were usually close enough to truth. I found I would rather have a good picture than a crappy one for "posterity's sake". I found I like to qualify the day as being successful or not, but I don't need an accurate number to do that. So I guess I do count, but not religiously.