

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : To count or not to count- that is the question.

Re: To count or not to count- that is the question.

Author: : JackM

Date: : 2010/2/11 21:19:08

URL:

Quote:

Chaz wrote:

Jack the fish are more likely to be up by the fallen log and under the tree roots, not necessarily where you would fish for them.

With all due respect to your superior knowledge of trout lies, I have been able to catch fish from such holes in at least 12 different locations and the most difficult lie that you mention is likely to hold a fish for that reason, though you or I will most likely spook it trying to get our fly to it. It will get a few casts, but not until I had tried at least 8-9 other lies first.