

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : To count or not to count- that is the question.

Re: To count or not to count- that is the question.

Author: : Squaretail

Date: : 2010/2/11 21:27:52

URL:

Quote:

Last year I did 5 straight full days of fishing and averaged just under 40 per day. Anyone could have done it, it was easy. But thats how you rack up totals in a hurry. It makes up for an awful lot of 3 fish days on limestoners.

Thats what came to my mind. Took over 200 in a week between Stony and Clarks and about a week later I took 120some in 3 days between Spring and the best day on Elk creek I ever had.

Those limestoners are just a TAD different from the ones down here in south central though. But that was 1/3 of the way to a thousand right there. I'm pretty confident I made it. That year the Breeches was on fire all year long. 2005-2006?

I also dont have kids in the house anymore or honey-do lists either. 😊