

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : The future of fly-fishing

Re: The future of fly-fishing

Author: : sundrunk

Date: : 2010/2/14 8:26:38

URL:

What kills me, is all these guys, Lefty, Bob and others made their living off the working mans tackle budget, and now that they are getting older, and their best fishing days are behind them, they could care less about the sport as a whole..Boomer mentality rrt, glutens till the end..That's what that tea party is all about..First generation in this country that could give a crap about their grandkids future..Bunch of sell outs if you ask me..Locust will eat..

Not a blanket statement on all boomers, there are exceptions, but not many..I refuse to buy any thing with leftys or Bobs name on it...After the elders hollowed out this nation they now want to tell you too bad, fish for bass...

Most of these waters will be ruined in 30 years any way..Energy before clean water..It's a brave new world..