Festus run into any bears lately

Quitthyer cussin 😞 But since you asked, last week I did indeed see a bear that woke up at the wrong time. I just about clipped him with my truck at the Gaines/Shippen line on Rt 6. I missed him but the car coming towards me didn't. 😞

Some great dialog in this thread. The thing I see that threatens our outdoor revreation is division within our ranks. Bait vs fly. Nymph vs dry. Archery vs rifle. We have ourselves to divided up to gather any kind kind of momentum to get things straightened up.

Outdoors people need to tighten up. We are to small of a minority to be divided up as we are.
